BOOK REVIEWS: “Technical Operation in Internal and International Tourism”

In 2013 the C. H. Beck Publishing House printed the book “Technical Operation in Internal and International Tourism”, written by Gabriela Stanciulescu and Olimpia State.

It is offering the readers (both students in tourism of all levels, and also everybody practicing tourism) a balanced combination of both practical and theoretical aspects.

It is not enough for the people working in tourism (despite of their level) to be aware of certain operations only, but they need to know their target, too. This is the way he could only make the right choices.

Consequently, this book has been thought accordingly, so that both theory and practice should offer the most important information necessary for the logical understanding of all the operations, both internal and international tourism.

The book equally proves interesting, useful and exciting for all the people connected with the destinies of the Romanian tourism.
